St. John's Wins in Prep School Class With 74 Points

Manchester Central High School won its seventh consecutive Interscholastic track meet on Memorial Field Saturday. St. John's preparatory school won for the third consecutive time in the preparatory school class, and was high scorer of the meet with a total of 74 points. Nott Terrace High School of Schenectady, New York, which claims the national championship in the number of track and field victories for the past ten years, won in the out-state class with a total of 52 points.

Two new records were set in the javelin throw and the mile run. The new record for the javelin was set by T. Clayton of Tilton, with a throw of 179 feet. The new record for the mile run was set by F. McGuire of Coney High School, Augusta, Maine.

In the State High School class, Laconia was the next highest to Manchester Central with a total score of 38 points. In the preparatory class Bridgton Academy was second to St. John preparatory school with 36 points, closely followed by Tilton School with 30 points, while in the Out-state class the nearest competitor to Nott Terrace's 52 points was Stevens High School of Rumford, Maine, with only 12 points. The remaining points were scattered among the other competing schools.

The total number of points scored by each school is as follows:

Out-state High Schools: Won by Nott Terrace High School of Schenectady, N. Y., 52 points; Stevens High School, Rumford, Maine, 16 points; Deering High School, Portland, Maine, 12

Chemists Hold Track Meet Last Thursday

Not all track meets are held on Memorial field—or even in pits or on the cinders. One of the most unique of track meets was held within the restricting walls of the lecture room in James hall when members of Alpha Chi Sigma had finished their regular meeting on Thursday night and had assembled for a bit of light entertainment.

Seizing pieces of glass tubing, the members thrust them into flames, heated them, and contested to see who could stretch them the farthest without breaking the tubing. This was the 100 centimeter dash.

In the tug of war, two contestants endeavored to suck water through the same tubing from the same bottle into two other bottles, with the person getting the most water into his bottle winning.

Paper bags were inflated, their necks tied with a string, and then heaved across the room as shot “putts.”

Records were smashed in the hammer throw when columns of mercury were raised to as high as 790 millimeters by creating pressure by breathing on the mercury well.

The last event was the most thrilling, with members dividing themselves into two teams, the Blues and the Yellows; and ranging themselves into two lines for the mile relay. Covers were removed from two pennymatch boxes, and placed over the ends of the noses of one member of each team. The covers were passed from nose to nose down the lines, and the result was a complete victory for the Blues.

FOLIO CLUB REVIEWS WORKS OF T. S. ELIOT

The Folio Club continued the reading of T. S. Eliot's poems at the recent meeting held at the home of Professor Carroll S. Towle. These works were received with mixed approval and bewilderment. Also the readings from two other recent volumes of poetry were discussed, these are Horace Gregory's Chorus for Survival and Mark Van Doran's A Winter Diary.

Grover Clark Speaks Before Delegation

Condemns Passing Secrets of Arms Manufacture to Other Countries

“America, peculiarly lacking in solutions for its problems because of the vastness of the country, must within one generation adjust its social and political life in terms of the relationship of man and physical world living in a mechanical age if western civilization is to remain dominant” declared Grover Clark, author, former editor of the Peking, China Leader and executive director of the China International Famine Commission speaking to twenty-five foreign students from fourteen countries here Saturday evening at the International Friendship week-end.

Foreign Students Attend Friendship Week-end Here

Dr. Grover Clark, Famous Lecturer, Speaks at Banquet

Twenty-eight foreign students, representing fifteen different countries, who are studying in and around Boston, were entertained Saturday and Sunday at the first N. H. U. International Friendship Week-end.

An informal tea was held at Ballard Hall Saturday afternoon. In the well-filled recreation room, acquaintances were made as European and American met in an informal manner and laid the foundations for increased sympathy and understanding.

An International banquet was held at 6:45 o'clock in the Commons, and was attended by about 130 students. Songs were sung and Van Buren Hopps welcomed the guests in behalf of the University of New Hampshire Student Movement for Christian Work.

Prof. Yale Addresses Arcturians, April 29

The Arcturians, the non-fraternity group on campus, held their third meeting in the Commons Trophy room at seven o'clock Monday night, April 29.

Professor Yale was the principal speaker of the evening. He gave those present many suggestions as to the functions which the group could perform. These suggestions were based on his own experiences at Yale, where he belonged to a club similar to this new group.

The group unanimously moved to go on record as being in favor of both the semester plan and the blanket tax plan.

Plans were made to hold a vic party Saturday, May 11, in the Commons Organization room. The dance will be free and open to everyone. No action was taken on a suggestion by Miss Ruth Woodruff, Dean of Women, that the organization also include non-sorority girls on campus.

N. H. Alumni Held Meeting Thursday

H. Steere Talked on Alumni Fund—B. B. Davis Spoke on Legislature

The Durham branch of the New Hampshire Alumni association held an informal meeting at the Lambda Chi Alpha house, Thursday evening, with Perley I. Fitts presiding.

The more than forty members who attended heard Harry W. Steere, chairman of the Alumni Fund committee, discuss the history, the purposes of the fund, and the working parts of its machinery. Mr. Steere also read several letters received from alumni, representative of the general psychology being created by the campaign, after which Burnham B. Davis, Alumni secretary, spoke informally concerning the State Legislature, of which he is a member.

Officers elected for the coming year were Richard Daland, president; Ruth Stark, vice-president; and Heman Fogg, secretary-treasurer. Regular meetings of the society were voted to be held in the fall and spring of each year.

After the short business meeting the members assembled in the fraternity room to take part in a game of Beano, arranged by Carl Lundholm, with Ernest Christensen and Howard Hanley as callers-out. Dean M. Gale Eastman and Mrs. Norman Alexander won the prizes for high scores.

Following the game, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Alpha Chi Sigma Meeting

The next meeting of Alpha Chi Sigma will be held Thursday, May 9, at 8 P. M., in James hall lecture room. Dr. L. A. Pratt, '09, of the Merrimack Chemical company will speak on nitrocellulose lacquers.

Name Will be Revealed in Friday Edition of “The New Hampshire”

The Junior Prom Queen has been elected, and the name will be revealed in THE NEW HAMPSHIRE on Friday when the University will participate in what promises to be the most successful Prom in many years. Advance ticket sales have been numerous, communications from the alumni have been overwhelming, and the student body has made plans for a gala week-end.

Robertson Page, chairman of the Prom, saw Fletcher at the Tufts Junior Prom last Friday night and made the following statement concerning the band today: “Henderson was a positive sensation. His new band exceeded my greatest expectations and I can confidently say it is even better than Don Redman.” Robert Coolidge, chairman of the Tufts Prom said: “It is the best orchestra that ever played at Tufts. I never saw the dancers gather around the stage and show such unprecedented enthusiasm.” Cosmos Ansara, who went to the Dartmouth Green Key Ball Saturday night to see Fletcher and the Dorsey Brothers in a battle of music, said today: “Henderson was equally as good as the Dorsey Brothers and received tremendous applause.”

Fletcher directs his band from the piano. He now has a featured singer named Charles Holland who is very good, having performed in many exclusive New York night clubs. The band is composed of three trumpets, two trombones, four saxophones and four rhythm instruments. Just before intermission, Fletcher will play a group of piano solos and Charlie Holland will sing one of Fletcher's latest compositions. At this time, a silver cup will be presented to the Junior Prom queen through the courtesy of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE by William Corcoran.

Fletcher Henderson is now making arrangements for Ray Noble, Benny Goodman and Isham Jones. Every tune his band plays is arranged by him. He has written very clever medleys of popular numbers and when his band plays hot, they cannot be duplicated. Adding to the torrid numbers is a new trumpet player who squeals way up above high C at various intervals and a tenor sax man named Benny Waters who is featured as the best in the world. The orchestra, brought together about three months ago, has precision, color and team work. They will surprise a good many by their excellent music and will undoubtedly be the best band ever to play here.

Casque and Casket

There can be no question in the minds of any but that Casque and Casket is tending to business and showing symptoms of life. By virtue of a legal technicality the members of this organization sought to protect their interest as any group has the right to do.

When the new plan was proposed members of the Council hoped that the group as planned could be made a truly representative organization. Casque and Casket feels differently, however, and has sought to protect its own special interest by demanding a seat in Council. Obviously, no plan is workable unless it can meet with the approval of all concerned. It is well that this objection came as it did rather than having dissension which would lead to fraternity politics in Council elections. If the situation seems expedient a compromise must be made.

Outing Club Makes Mendon Pond Trip

Another of the Thursday evening trips sponsored by the Outing Club was held on May 2 at Mendon's Pond in the cabin. A larger number attended, twenty-five in all. Miss Gwentyth Ladd chaperoned the party.

The usual activities of these trips was carried on after supper, but before the meal, work was done on the cabin to the extent of making some new benches in order to better seat the group. After the food had been cleared away an old-fashioned square dance took place on the crowded floor much to the merriment of the group. Music was furnished by the harmonica playing of Walter Brown and the calling and coaching was done by Miss Boyd. After the excitement had died down the group became more conservative and sang around the camp fire.

The food was prepared by Phil Wentzell and Paul Carrier with the aid of several others in the final serving. Willis Bartlett had charge of the construction work.

Stuff and Nonsense

By Roy Lovely

Mr. E. E. Cummings, whose name is better known than his poetry, has written a new book, whose title at least is intriguing. It is called No Thanks, and is dedicated to Simon and Schuster, Farrar and Rinehart, The Modern Library, and others among the larger league publishers, all of whom have at various times turned down the poems which make up the collection. Some one is going to enjoy a very juicy last laugh, and on general principles we hope it is Mr. Cummings.

The Boston premier of Parade this week is an event of more than ordinary importance. First of all, it is the first time that the august Theatre Guild has ventured into the revue field. To an average interested person, the terms "Theatre Guild" and "musical revue" would appear about as synonymous as Ghandi and b-swing suits; but the leopard can change his spots on occasion, sometimes to great advantage. Best of all though, is the news that Jimmy Savo is to be the star of the revue. Our admiration for this grotesque pantaloon dates back to the day when we dropped into Keith's to kill an hour between trains. Jimmy Savo was headlining the bill, and we stayed to see three shows. We followed his subsequent career with interest, and rejoiced when Hecht and MacArthur signed him up to do a picture. The picture was completed, but after a few trade showings it was shelved, for some reason in spite of Savo's personal triumph. That episode is illustrative of Savo's career to date, a sort of "always a bridesmaid, but never a bride" existence. If the Fates decide to let bygones be bygones this time, however, we predict with the utmost sincerity that the world will have a new favorite clown, who will not be a "second" anyone.

Casque and Casket Stops Elections to Student Council

Student Council Meets Tonight to Consider New Plans

Casque and Casket, at a meeting held Sunday night, took exception to new plans for seating Student Council nominees and petitioned to stop the elections which were to be held Monday.

Two points were raised by Casque and Casket. The first was that the organization felt that it was entitled, by virtue of its position, to a vote on the Council rather than the non-voting, ex-officio position proposed in the plan. The second point was that insufficient time and publicity had been given to enable the students to consider the Council nominees. The petition was presented to Dean Alexander who conferred with Fred Walker. As a result the elections have again been postponed until these new objections can be met.

A council meeting will be held tonight and an attempt will be made to find the solution which will meet with the approval of all organizations concerned.

course there's the woman. She was so winsome, so fragile, so delicately lovely "Like a lily," said Husey when interviewed. Oh sure. But then, we must not forget the faintly scented letter that Huse received the other day. With lovelorn eyes he gazed "Like a gazelle upon a sea of salt" at the envelope bearing his name in the old familiar scrawl. He waited, delaying the pleasure a moment later. Then, throwing all caution to the winds, he opened the letter. There, in the old familiar scrawl, "Dear Wal-lie" the letter began. No doubt the lady knows by now what her error in switching envelopes has been the cause of, for Huse is still meditating on whether to use gas or just keep on going to school here.

There are also rumors that THE NEW HAMPSHIRE will be, soon, edited in pictorial form, for the benefit of "Casanova" Orgera of Stoneleigh fame.

All right, we did get thrown out of that "restaurant" in Newmarket. So what?

"Society Doctor" Norton turned out to be a first class chiseler this week-end when he took out his room-mate's little passing fancy, one Sandy MacPherson. In fact the dear boy had a merry ride in a certain rumble seat (not ours) from Hampton Beach Saturday night, and even refused the chance of a little week-end party, because Bill hates cold cabins, etc. . . .

And Grrrrttzzzz, the Brooklyn Baron, rolled in sometime, with a blanket and everything but refused to admit a thing. "What a week-end" he was heard saying as he reached out for his cane and tottered away . . .

And Johnny Guy slept all the way in from Hampton, in the rumble, in the company of two lily cups and Burns' father.

The Junior Prom Queen has been chosen and everything but we're all still kept guessing. We think that Bill Norton got it, but then, we're all wrong now and then . . .

Some day, get President Lewis to tell you about how he absent-mindedly, once upon a time (while at school) told the police that his car had been stolen. It turned out that he had driven down to the post-office with it and then walked home. We have

And, with apologies to the Winchell-Bernie feud: An empty cab rolled up to the curb and "Rose-Water" Prendergast and "Drizzlepuss" Coin fell out.

If that lunch doesn't come pretty soon we'll just have to end this column right here and now.

Naw, you can't buy Prendergast and Coin off, and besides a quarter isn't enough . . .

And lo and behold, the four beautiful ladies rolled down from Portsmouth and carted off four of Durham's finest. We noticed McNery, McMahon, Orgie and someone else.

Terry Lapeza was seen feeding some strange rose-colored fluid to a luscious blonde from S., at a downtown eating spotte one afternoon last week.

No, we did not go to Rhode Island this week-end. After all it seems that there is a bit of a

Grover Clark Speaks Before Delegation

Speaking in the University Commons dining hall attractively decorated with the appropriate flags for the fourteen nations represented by students, Clark told the University of New Hampshire undergraduates and their guests that "our civilization of fifty years ago based on human society has now been replaced by one of mechanical energy. Our social and political philosophy, considerably antiquated with the tremendous advances made by science placing Hawaii only eighteen hours away by plane, and Australia only five minutes by phone, will have to undergo a tremendous change."

Attributing the growing militaristic spirit in Europe and the Far East to American dominance through its advanced standards in arms manufacturing, Clark condemned our passing these secrets to foreign countries. We have reason to believe that eventually the East and West may become engaged in a war for dominance which will destroy all civilization. "Today, nations have no security, friendship and justice for one another except in proportion to their armed power. Eastern civilization disappointed by the failure of the west to keep peace pacts and treaties, destroying them like scraps of paper, are now arming and conscripting men, and in China even women, for military service. Our only salvation is the League of Nations which will prevent such misunderstandings between nations to reach an emotional crisis and result in war."

Representative graduate students from Harvard, Wellesley, Boston University and Radcliffe from India, Austria, Germany, and England, speaking at the banquet pleaded for a "mutual understanding of problems

Alpha Chi Sigma Meets Thurs., May 2

Pictures of Asbestos and Spark Plug Shown to Chemistry Group

The regular meeting of Alpha Chi Sigma was held Thursday night, May 2, in the James Hall lecture room. Moving pictures were shown entitled Asbestos and The Story of the Spark Plug.

Asbestos is blasted from surface mines, separated from the rock and sand by crushing and screening, and then mixed with pitch or some other binding agent to be ultimately used in the manufacture of shingles, wall board, pipe coverings, and other various uses.

The pictures, besides showing how wire was drawn and put into spark plugs, showed the mining of sillimanite high in the mountains of California; its transportation to the Great Lakes region; and the crushing and calcining of the substance that is made into the white insulation used in the spark plug.

The next meeting of the society will be held Thursday, May 9, at 8:00 P. M. in James hall and will be open to all those students desiring to attend. Dr. L. A. Pratt, '09, will talk and show pictures on the preparation and uses of nitrocellulose lacquers. Besides being an alumnus of the University and a member of Alpha Chi Sigma, Dr. Pratt is chairman of the northeastern section of the American Chemical society, and is director of research on nitrocellulose lacquers for the Merrimack Chemical company.

The meeting, the first of its kind held at the University of New Hampshire, was sponsored by the University Christian Work organization and the Foreign Student committee of the Student Work council of Boston.

The University of Buffalo School of Dentistry

A three year course of instruction, quarter plan. The dental and medical divisions are closely affiliated. Dental students have two years of basic medical study under the direction and supervision of the medical faculty. Clinical practice of dentistry, in all its varied aspects, is supervised by the dental division and is connected with the clinics of several hospitals. These combined institutions offer an unusually helpful experience in clinical observation, diagnosis, and treatment of dental conditions. The next regular session will open July 1st, 1935.

MEETS FOR NEW PLANS

The Blue Circle council of the Outing club met on last Monday evening, April 28, to discuss the plans for the coming year and to plan a skeleton program to work around. The main topics discussed were the Horse show, Winter carnival, Cabins and Trails, Membership, Trips, and Winter Sports. Each of the directors outlined his ideas for his respective department and the others made suggestions to help.

Some of the projects proposed were a "weather proof" program for the Carnival, the possible purchase of a car or beach wagon for the use of the club, a system of points and regular assignments for heelers, development of the Pawtuckaway mountain downhill ski run, erection of a bigger ski jump, and the cooperation of the club with the C. C. C. workers in the building of shelters, ski trails, and bridle paths in and around Durham. Within a short time, a definite program for the 1935-36 activities will be laid out with a set goal for every department, which will tend to help the club advance.

The departments of trails and cabins of the Outing club sprang into action last Saturday when they started improvements on the cabin at Menden's pond. Willis Bartlett, director, led a

ALUMNI NOTES

1926—Last week, the Rotary club of Franklin elected Harold W. Whitcomb, '26, president for the ensuing year.

1927—Information just received makes the Alumni office realize that it probably is frequently dealing in misnomers. For more than two years it has been addressing letters to "Miss Hazel Beard, '27", when, during all that time as it now appears, Miss Hazel Beard was Mrs. William Mills of 8 Church Street, Plymouth, Mass.

On April 27, Maurice B. Smith, '27, moved from Orange, New Jersey, to 212 King's road, Madison, New Jersey.

1929—Lloyd Dunlap, '29, was married at the Hotel Samoset in Laconia, on April 24, to Miss Emma Cleveland of Concord. The couple will live in Concord, after their wedding trip.

William Mahoney, '29, still continues as popular teacher and debating coach at Laconia High school. The news about Bill is that he recently got into a controversy, via the newspaper columns, with former Mayor Charles E. Carroll.

Celia Williams, '29, sails in June to spend the summer in research and study in Russia and the Scandinavian countries.

1931—It was learned recently that Jimmie Cryans, ex-'31, is on his way to Cuba, where he will remain for several months.

1933—Arthur Mahoney, '33, has been serving as a substitute teacher at Malden, Mass., High school.

There is no need for a lot of whangdoodle talk about cigarettes —just plain common-sense

When you stop to think about your cigarette—what it means to you—here's about the way you look at it—

Smoking a cigarette gives a lot of pleasure—it always has.

People have been smoking and enjoying tobacco in some form or another for over 400 years.

Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it.

In other words—you want it to Satisfy.

Scientific methods and ripe mild tobaccos make Chesterfield a milder and better-tasting cigarette. We believe you will enjoy them.
